THE SECRET OF BUSINESS IS TO KNOW SOMETHING THAT NOBODY ELSE KNOWS

Aristotle Onassis

The Lublin Consulting Centre Ltd. was established in 2009 in Lublin to promote enterprise and show companies how to boost their effectiveness. Entrepreneurs' needs require constant market observation, trend analysis, search for new solutions and continuous development of relational capital. As one of the management classics once said 'Customer segmentation always comes down to meeting the needs of a single customer.' There are no universal solutions in business and market dynamics does not allow long pondering about strategy. We provide expertise, tools and if necessary ready-made business solutions. When supporting clients in overcoming business challenges we accept George Schenk's assumption that 'Customers may come in crowds but they feel satisfaction individually.'

Yours faithfully

Katarzyna Tatara

CERTIFIED TRAINING

Competence requires confirmation so it is worth taking advantage of training which, apart from sound knowledge, provides both a certificate of professional competence and certificates proving the key competences.

VCC CERTIFICATES

Increasing professional competence can be done at two levels – the acquisition of new competences or supplement the existing ones. Incorporating certified training, which undoubtedly confirms the acquired qualifications, in development of your professional career is a perfect solution. We cooperate with the VCC Foundation in the preparation and certification of training programmes.

ECDL CERTIFICATES

The Human Capital Report leaves no doubt – 70 per cent of employers invest in their employees. Their participation in training is not only beneficial for the organization but also affects individual development of each employee. Entrepreneurs and top executives have realized that although knowledge costs money, ignorance is even more costly. The Life Long Learning concept is not only a trend but it is slowly becoming a necessity and a way for enterprises to adapt to the challenges of a changing market.

ECDL CERTIFICATES

The Human Capital Report leaves no doubt – 70 per cent of employers invest in their employees. Their participation in training is not only beneficial for the organization but also affects individual development of each employee. Entrepreneurs and top executives have realized that although knowledge costs money, ignorance is even more costly. The Life Long Learning concept is not only a trend but it is slowly becoming a necessity and a way for enterprises to adapt to the challenges of a changing market. Certified trainings which include VCC and ECDL training are getting more and more popular.

The ECDL certificate is a valuable document that confirms computer skills, the subject area covered during the course includes such issues as word processing, operating within a network, image editing, project management, 2D CAD (find out more on www.ecdl.pl). If you are interested in:

- comprehensive organization of ECDL training on one of the three levels,
- carrying out an ECDL exam,
- ordering textbooks,
- obtaining detailed information concerning the organization of the training and the exam itself, contact our consultant. Nearly 300 employees from the Lubelskie province have completed ECDL training organized by us. Thanks to our commitment and professional organization of the training the success rate of passing the final exam is close to 100 per cent.

VCC CERTIFICATES

Increasing professional competence can be done at two levels – the acquisition of new competences or supplement the existing ones. Incorporating certified training, which undoubtedly confirms the acquired qualifications, in development of your professional career is a perfect solution.

From the wide range of training services, VCC (Vocational Competence Certificate) training deserves special attention. It allows you to take up a new occupation or to supplement and update existing competences. Research conducted by Aon Hewitt confirms that employees' level of motivation has been consistently growing for four years. This is important news for employers who have a chance to take advantage of their employees' commitment to achieve their business objectives. If you see the need to improve qualifications of your employees, we are able to:

- organise certified VCC training concerning subject area of your choice,
- carry out an examination in accordance with the VCC standards,
- provide detailed information on the VCC procedures.

We cooperate with the VCC Foundation in the preparation and certification of training programmes. We are capable of preparing a certified training for your employees and consequently provide them with better professional development which will lead to their increased effectiveness.
